

Performative Mapping of the 2019 Uprisings

This Performative Mapping of the 2019 Uprising is an outcome of the second workshop led by Maria Basil and Marc El Samrani. In this workshop, students were asked to create a common performative map. This map focuses on space and the 2019 protests. Basil and El Samrani worked with the students to share their personal urban experiences of the protest and its impact on their spatial understanding of the city. The common map embodied these experiences that, in turn, created a new way to engage and map the spatial traces and legacies of the 2019 protests.
